

PRIMITIVE RUG HOOKING WORKSHOP 2022

Located in beautiful Grand Lake, Colorado
Class taught by Theresa Rapstine September 30 – October 4, 2022

Please join us for this new and exciting event! This rug workshop is being hosted by the new Rocky Mountain Folk School in the heart of historic Grand Lake, Colorado. The workshop will begin on Friday, September 30th with a “meet and greet” where you can check in, set up and meet the teacher. You will also enjoy light hors d’oeuvres and beverages and meet other students. Our teacher, Theresa Rapstine, is a reputable, creative, fun teacher with a wealth of knowledge. She will help you make your rugs look old using many textures and colors of wool.

Grand Lake is a wonderful, historic mountain town with shopping, dining and minutes away from the west entrance to Rocky Mountain National Park. There you can enjoy hiking, driving and exploring to find elk, moose and other wildlife. In early October, the Aspen trees are still changing color and moose and bugling Elk are abundant in the park. Extend your stay before or after our retreat; there is so much to see and do in Grand Lake.

TERESA RAPSTINE

Create the look of vintage, worn and well used rugs using specific wools, primitive cuts (9, 10 and hand-torn) and Theresa's non-traditional hooking style. Students choose from one of her antique inspired, hand drawn patterns on unbleached, primitive linen.

During this class, students will learn:

- About recycled and vintage wools and how to select them to make a rug look antique
- Simple use of large cuts, 9 and larger and how to tear strips for hooking
- Theresa's 10 tips for making a rug look vintage and old

Bring your own wool to class or purchase from her stash. Remember, to create this vintage style, wool selection is important. Please be open to wools you have never seen or used before. You will need a large variety of wools for each motif and background. Theresa will bring recycled, as-is, and a little bit of everything.

Our first retreat in Grand Lake is hosted by the newly forming Rocky Mountain Folk School. Your camp organizer is Lisa Hut, an artist and rug hooker who is excited to share information with you about the school and activities in Grand Lake, Colorado. For additional information contact Lisa at lisahutart@gmail.com or 720-201-0326.
